WORLD DAY OF MIGRANTS AND REFUGEES - SUNDAY 29TH SEP: The Church has been celebrating the WDMR since 1914. It is always an occasion to express concern for different vulnerable people on the move; to pray for them as they face many challenges. Pope Francis' message for the 110th WDMR is "God walks with His people". In this message, the Holy Father reminds us that all of us, God's people, are migrants on this earth, on our way to the "True Homeland".

ONLINE TALK ON THE NEW LECTIONARY: As many will be aware, the readings that we listen to at Mass will change on the First Sunday of Advent across the country as we move to a new translation of the bible. Why the change and what difference will it make? To hear the answers to these questions and more, join us online at 7-8pm on Tue 1st Oct as we hear Fr Paul Denney, a biblical scholar who worked on the new lectionary, explain some of the key changes. It is free and open to all, to receive the link for Teams please email: fr.marco.egawhary@rcaob.org.uk.

GOSPEL COMMENTARY: FR D. O'SHEA: "Our social fabric militates against relation", wrote G.W. Morgan in Prophetic Voices. "Competitiveness pervades everything we do and is taught from the time we are small children.... Our fundamental stance is not to respond to others, but to outdo them, vie with them, beat them".

This seems to be true of every business; and when we make a business of religion, it is true in that field too. The scurrilous polemics between Christian Churches in the past seem scandalous now, but they probably seemed normal in their time.

In the first reading at today's Mass, we see how Moses regarded the 'opposition'. A young man ran to delate some unofficial prophets. "The young man ran to tell Moses: 'Look,' he said, 'Eldad and Medad are prophesying in the camp'. Moses' response showed a wonderful generosity of spirit: "If only the whole people of the Lord were prophets, and the Lord gave his Spirit to them all!" The situation in the Gospel reading is an exact parallel, and Jesus' response is just like that of Moses. "Anyone who is not against us, is for us".

The lesson is that the Holy Spirit is nobody's property and blows wherever it wills (John 3:8). The Holy Spirit is God's gift to the Church, but the Holy Spirit is not restricted to acting in ways that we alone can recognise. No created reality can fully embody or express the freedom of God. The Church is always in danger of shrivelling and hardening into a sect, just as every believer is in danger of becoming a self-righteous reactionary. But the very qualities that are considered vices in an individual can sometimes be made to appear virtues in an organisation. Today's readings are like a road-sign that says "No Entry" on that road.

In the document Nostra Aetate, the Second Vatican Council stated: "The Catholic Church rejects nothing that is true and holy in these [non-Christian] religions. She regards with sincere reverence those ways of conduct and of life, those precepts and teachings which, though differing in many aspects from the ones she holds and sets forth, nonetheless often reflect a ray of that Truth which enlightens all people". This is not a sell-out, as some have claimed; it is in the spirit of Christ, who praised the "faith" even of a pagan Roman Centurion (Matthew 8:10). Only a truth that is very unsure of itself feels always compelled to make an enemy of the other.

This has relevance for us at the individual level too. As Raniero Cantalamessa put it, "We are to watch with joy, not with jealousy, the many who prophesy and cast out demons, thus contributing to authentic human development". And C.S. Lewis remarked that it would be very surprising if the Light of the World, Christ, were not reflected in some way in every part of the world. When we see good being done by anyone, Christian or not, we see Christ's face, in full light or in shadow.
